What's brewing in AI is a weekly newsletter focused on effective ways to use, adopt and build with AI. Written from the perspective of me; a solo founder leveraging AI to run every part of my business.

My audience consists of hands-on professionals and builders. They are tech leaders, founders, marketers and consultants—actively building, testing, and buying AI tools for their work.

Hi – I'm Dario.

I started What's brewing in AI in mid-2023. Over 200 editions, I've built trust by actually using the tools I write about and sharing what works, and what doesn't.

Howdy wizards,

I've partnered up with Sema4.ai to show you a solution that can quickly turn your team's AI Ideas into deployed agents.

Here's what's brewing in (enterprise) AI.

IN PARTNERSHIP WITH SEMA4.AI

Sema4.ai is bringing the power of enterprise AI agents directly to Snowflake customers

AI has no shortage of demand, but when it comes to actually putting it to work inside the enterprise, many teams hit the same wall: POCs that never make it to production.

Sema4.ai just launched Team Edition, the first enterprise AI agent platform that runs natively on Snowflake. It's designed to take you from idea to deployed agent in a single click, with no complex setup and no orchestration headaches.

Team Edition integrates with Snowflake Cortex and your existing data infrastructure to give teams a fast path from data to decisions. You can build agents that automate forecasting, churn modeling, or customer insights using your own data and enterprise context without writing a line of SQL or code—exactly what busy leadership teams need for automation and efficiency gains.

What makes it powerful:

- Native deployment inside Snowflake: Agents run securely within Snowflake's security boundary.
- Powered by Claude: Uses Anthropic's Claude models via Snowflake Cortex to understand natural language and execute business tasks.
- Built for business users, not just developers: Anyone can deploy agents using natural language—no programming skills required. Teams collaborate through Work Room, an environment where business users chat with agents and oversee their work.
- Multi-source data and apps: Connect Snowflake data with other enterprise systems to drive actions across tools.
- Pre-built + custom actions: Extend with the Action Gallery or build your own using the SDK and new MCP (Model Context Protocol) server support.

Team Edition is available today on request in the Snowflake Marketplace, with a 30-day free trial for new users.

Check out the blog to see how it works, and learn why companies like Koch Engineered Solutions are choosing Team Edition to automate their workflows and drive real results.
